International FAST Conference

The International FAST Conference (formerly PCS) is a week long training seminar designed for individuals or agencies who are interested in:

- learning more about FAST
- becoming a FAST trainer

or FAST trainers who are in need of re-certification or who are interested in certification in another FAST model.

"The most powerful lessons about ethics and morality do not come from school discussions or classes...they come from family life where people treat one another with respect, consideration, and love."

-Neil Kurshan, author

FAST Programs

FAST is an award-winning set of preventive/early intervention after-school programs that has dramatically changed the learning climate at schools and communities all over the world. First released in 1990, this model has changed the way many people think of parent involvement, interventions, and how to keep kids safe, drug-free, and in school.

FAST Programs

- Connect parents and kids to their schools and communities
- Promote community service and voluntary participation
- Build skills and change attitudes through experiential learning
- Preserve precious classroom time through school-focused, extracurricular parental involvement
- Assure that capable parents remain the primary agents of protection for their kids

"I feel that the FAST program was a great way to involve families from all ethnicities to communicate and share experiences concerning parenting, school, and social structures."

-FAST Parent
